Teaching Fellow, Civil Litigation Clinic at ASU Law

Job Number: 12813

The Sandra Day O’Connor College of Law at Arizona State University has a 40+-year history of clinical legal education. Through its Clinical Program, the College has helped thousands of its students become successful practitioners, each graduating with the skills to represent clients effectively, as well as a keen sense of professionalism and a firm commitment to public service. To further this tradition, the College is looking to hire a Teaching Fellow in the area of general civil litigation beginning summer semester 2019 through the spring semester 2020.

Duties

The Teaching Fellow will be responsible for:

- teaching students through both non-directive case supervision and simulation-based instruction in the civil litigation process and trial advocacy;
- participating in the College of Law’s mission of education, and service to the broader community; and,
- Working with students to provide legal representation to people with limited access to the courts.

Skills and Qualifications

Required: The Teaching Fellow must:

- hold a Juris Doctor degree from an ABA-accredited law school; and
- Be a licensed attorney in good standing with at least four years’ experience in civil litigation.

Preferred: The College is specifically seeking candidates with:

- demonstrated competence and interest in representing clients in a variety of civil litigation areas;
- a commitment to public service;
- the ability to work productively with students and clients from diverse backgrounds; and
- Experience in clinical legal education or simulation-based legal instruction.

This is a full-time, benefits-eligible, 12-month appointment as a Teaching Fellow at Arizona State University.

Application Procedure:

Applications must contain:
1. A letter of application outlining your qualifications as related to the position;
2. A curriculum vitae; and
3. Contact information for three professional references.
Please send completed applications to Ms. Lauren Balconi, Coordinator for Appointments Committee, Sandra Day O’Connor College of Law, MC9520, Arizona State University, 111 E. Taylor St., Phoenix, AZ 85004-4467 or electronically to Lauren.Balconi@asu.edu. The application deadline is Friday, April 5th at and, if not filled, every Friday thereafter until the search is closed.
